FOREWORD

While we were experiencing the constant, vibrant challenge of life—dances, rallies, sports, and seminars—the waves of the future have been busily breaking upon the shores in fury and eager anticipation. Our class, like a huge vessel that was under construction, weathered these changes of the tide. From port to starboard, bow to stern, and rudder to topsail the hold of our brig has been filled with the basic ability to reason and the surging desire to be a unique individual.

Slowly and carefully this swaying craft was hoisted over the edge of immaturity and gently set upon the calm seashore, warmheartedly caressed by the tide of humanity. During our Senior year the final swabbing of the decks and unfurling of the sails have taken place.

Full of ideals we embark upon the future of unpredictable waves. Teetering under the strain of the turbulent sea, shifting our weight to compensate for the roll of the rig, peering from atop the deck to see reefs beyond yon snowy crests, we steer toward the calm, enchanted gulfs of peace and happiness where our venturous bark can be anchored.

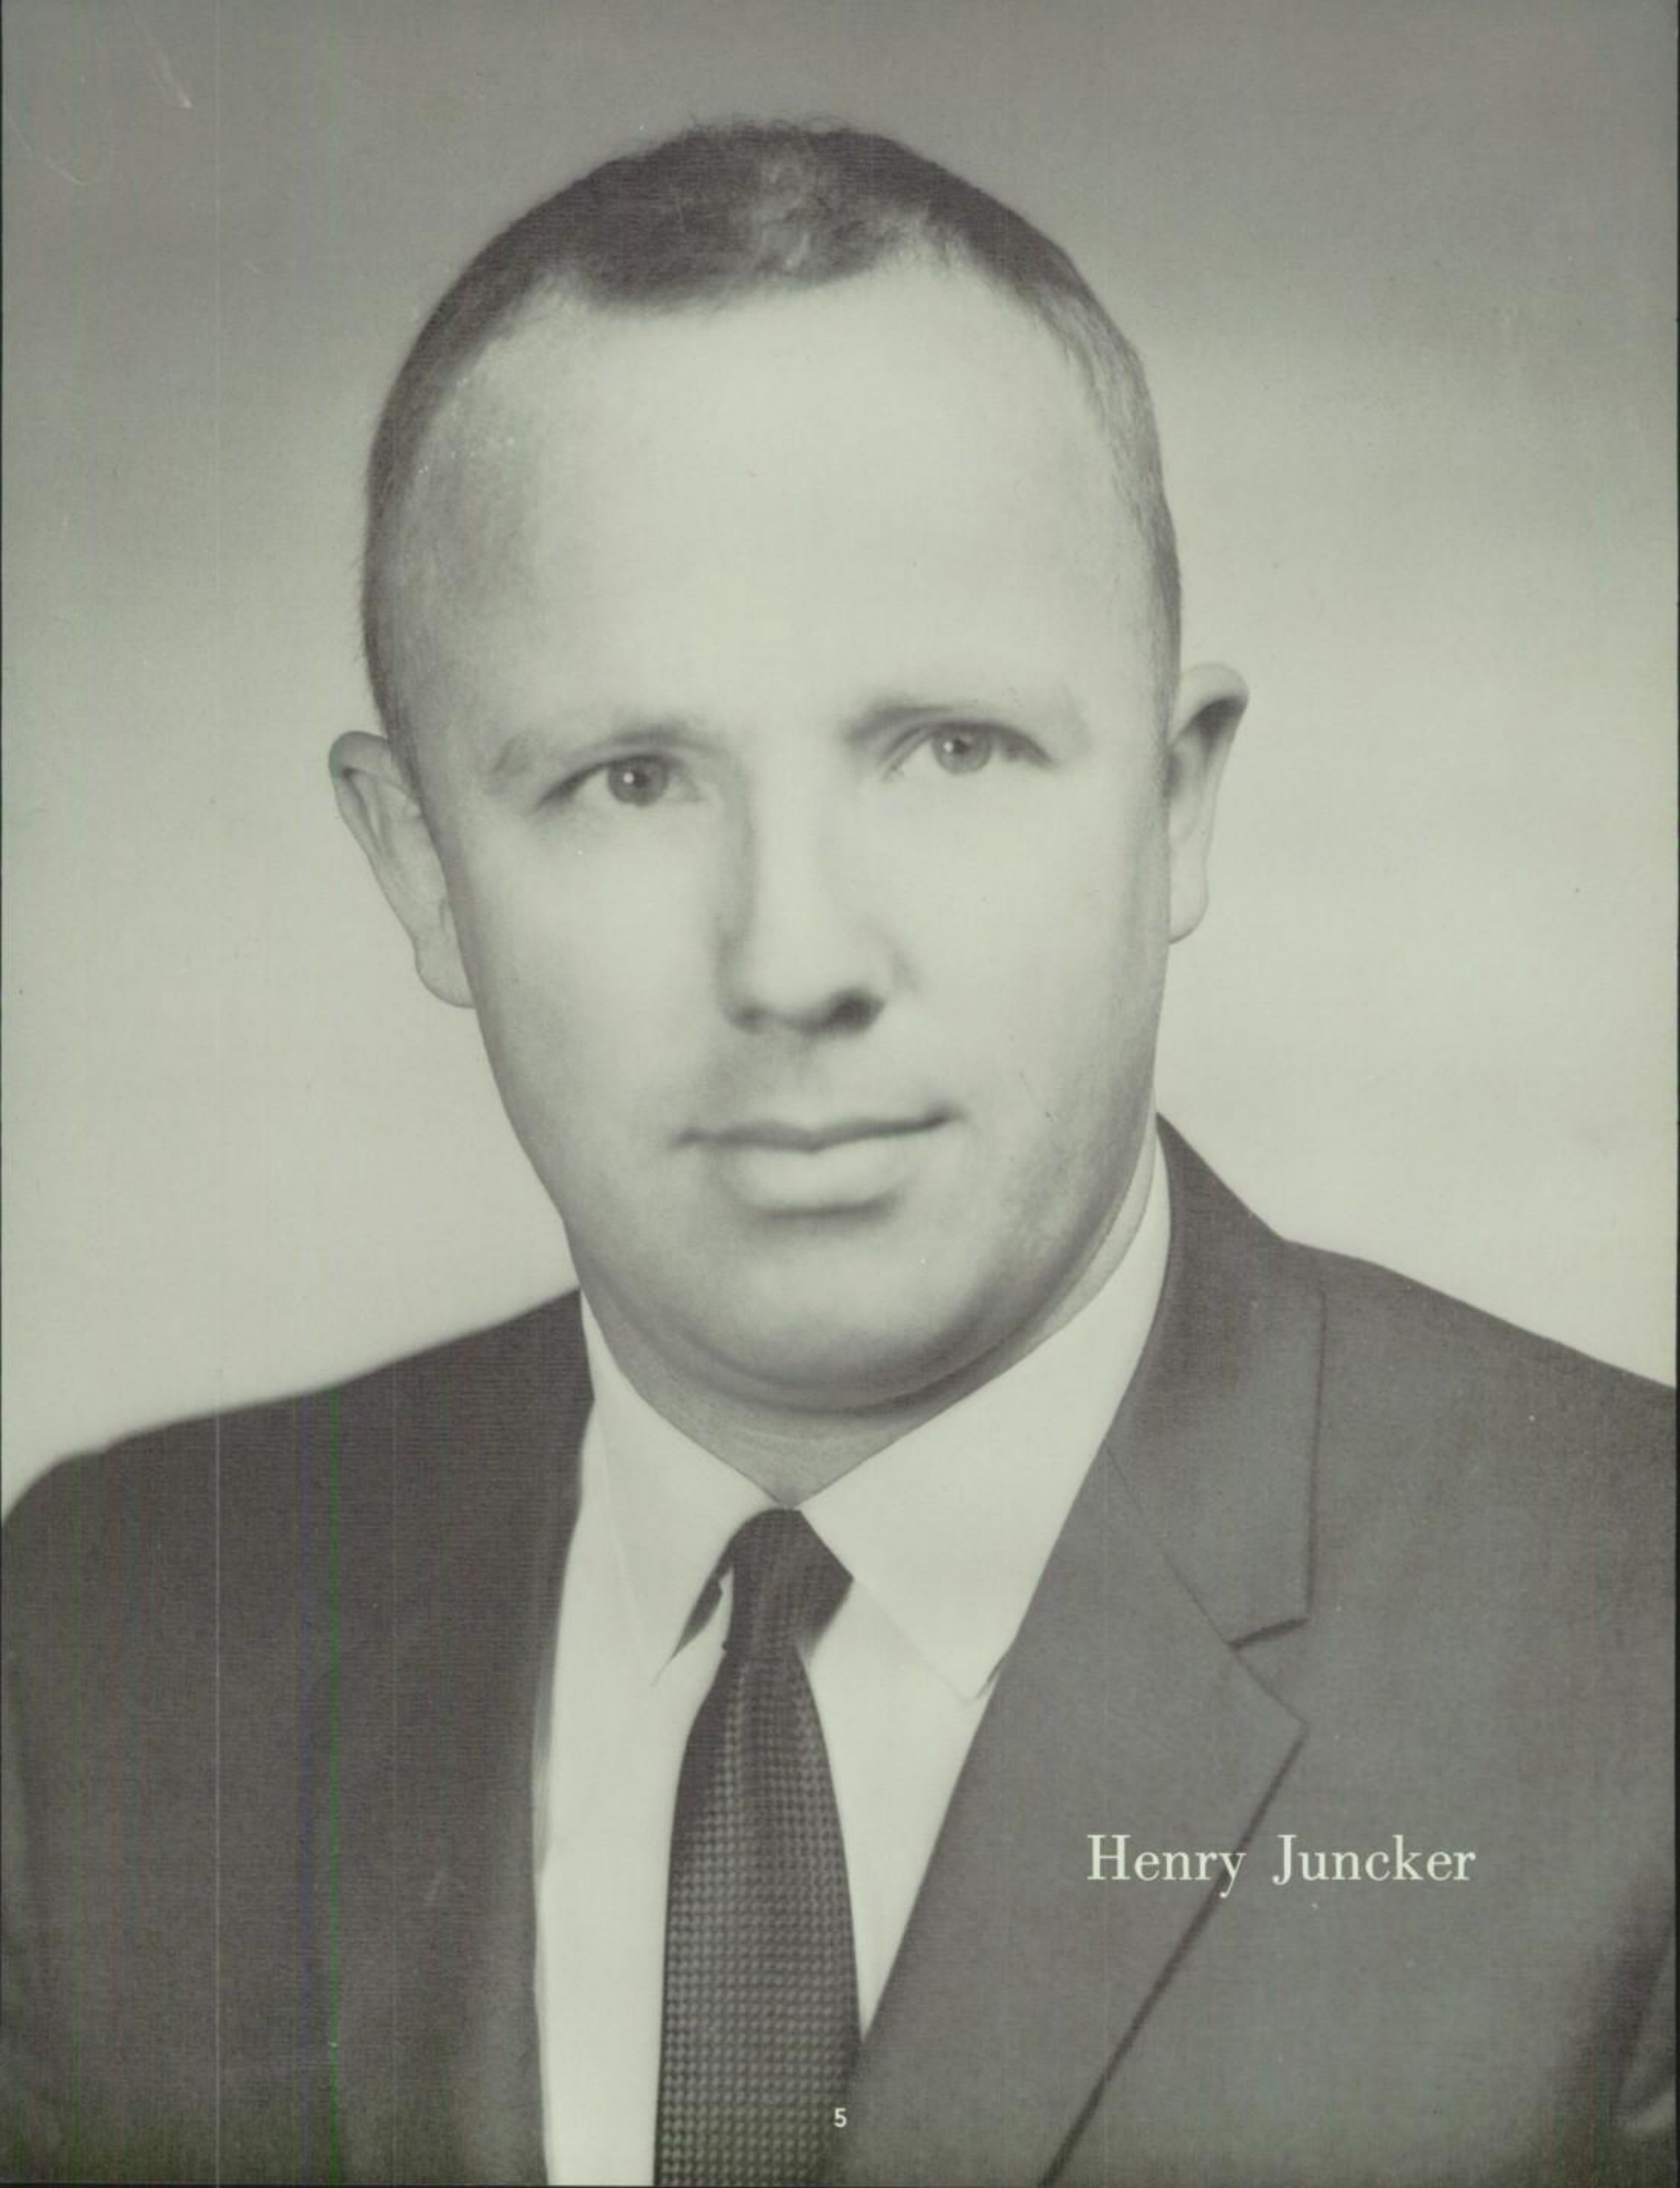
In Dedication

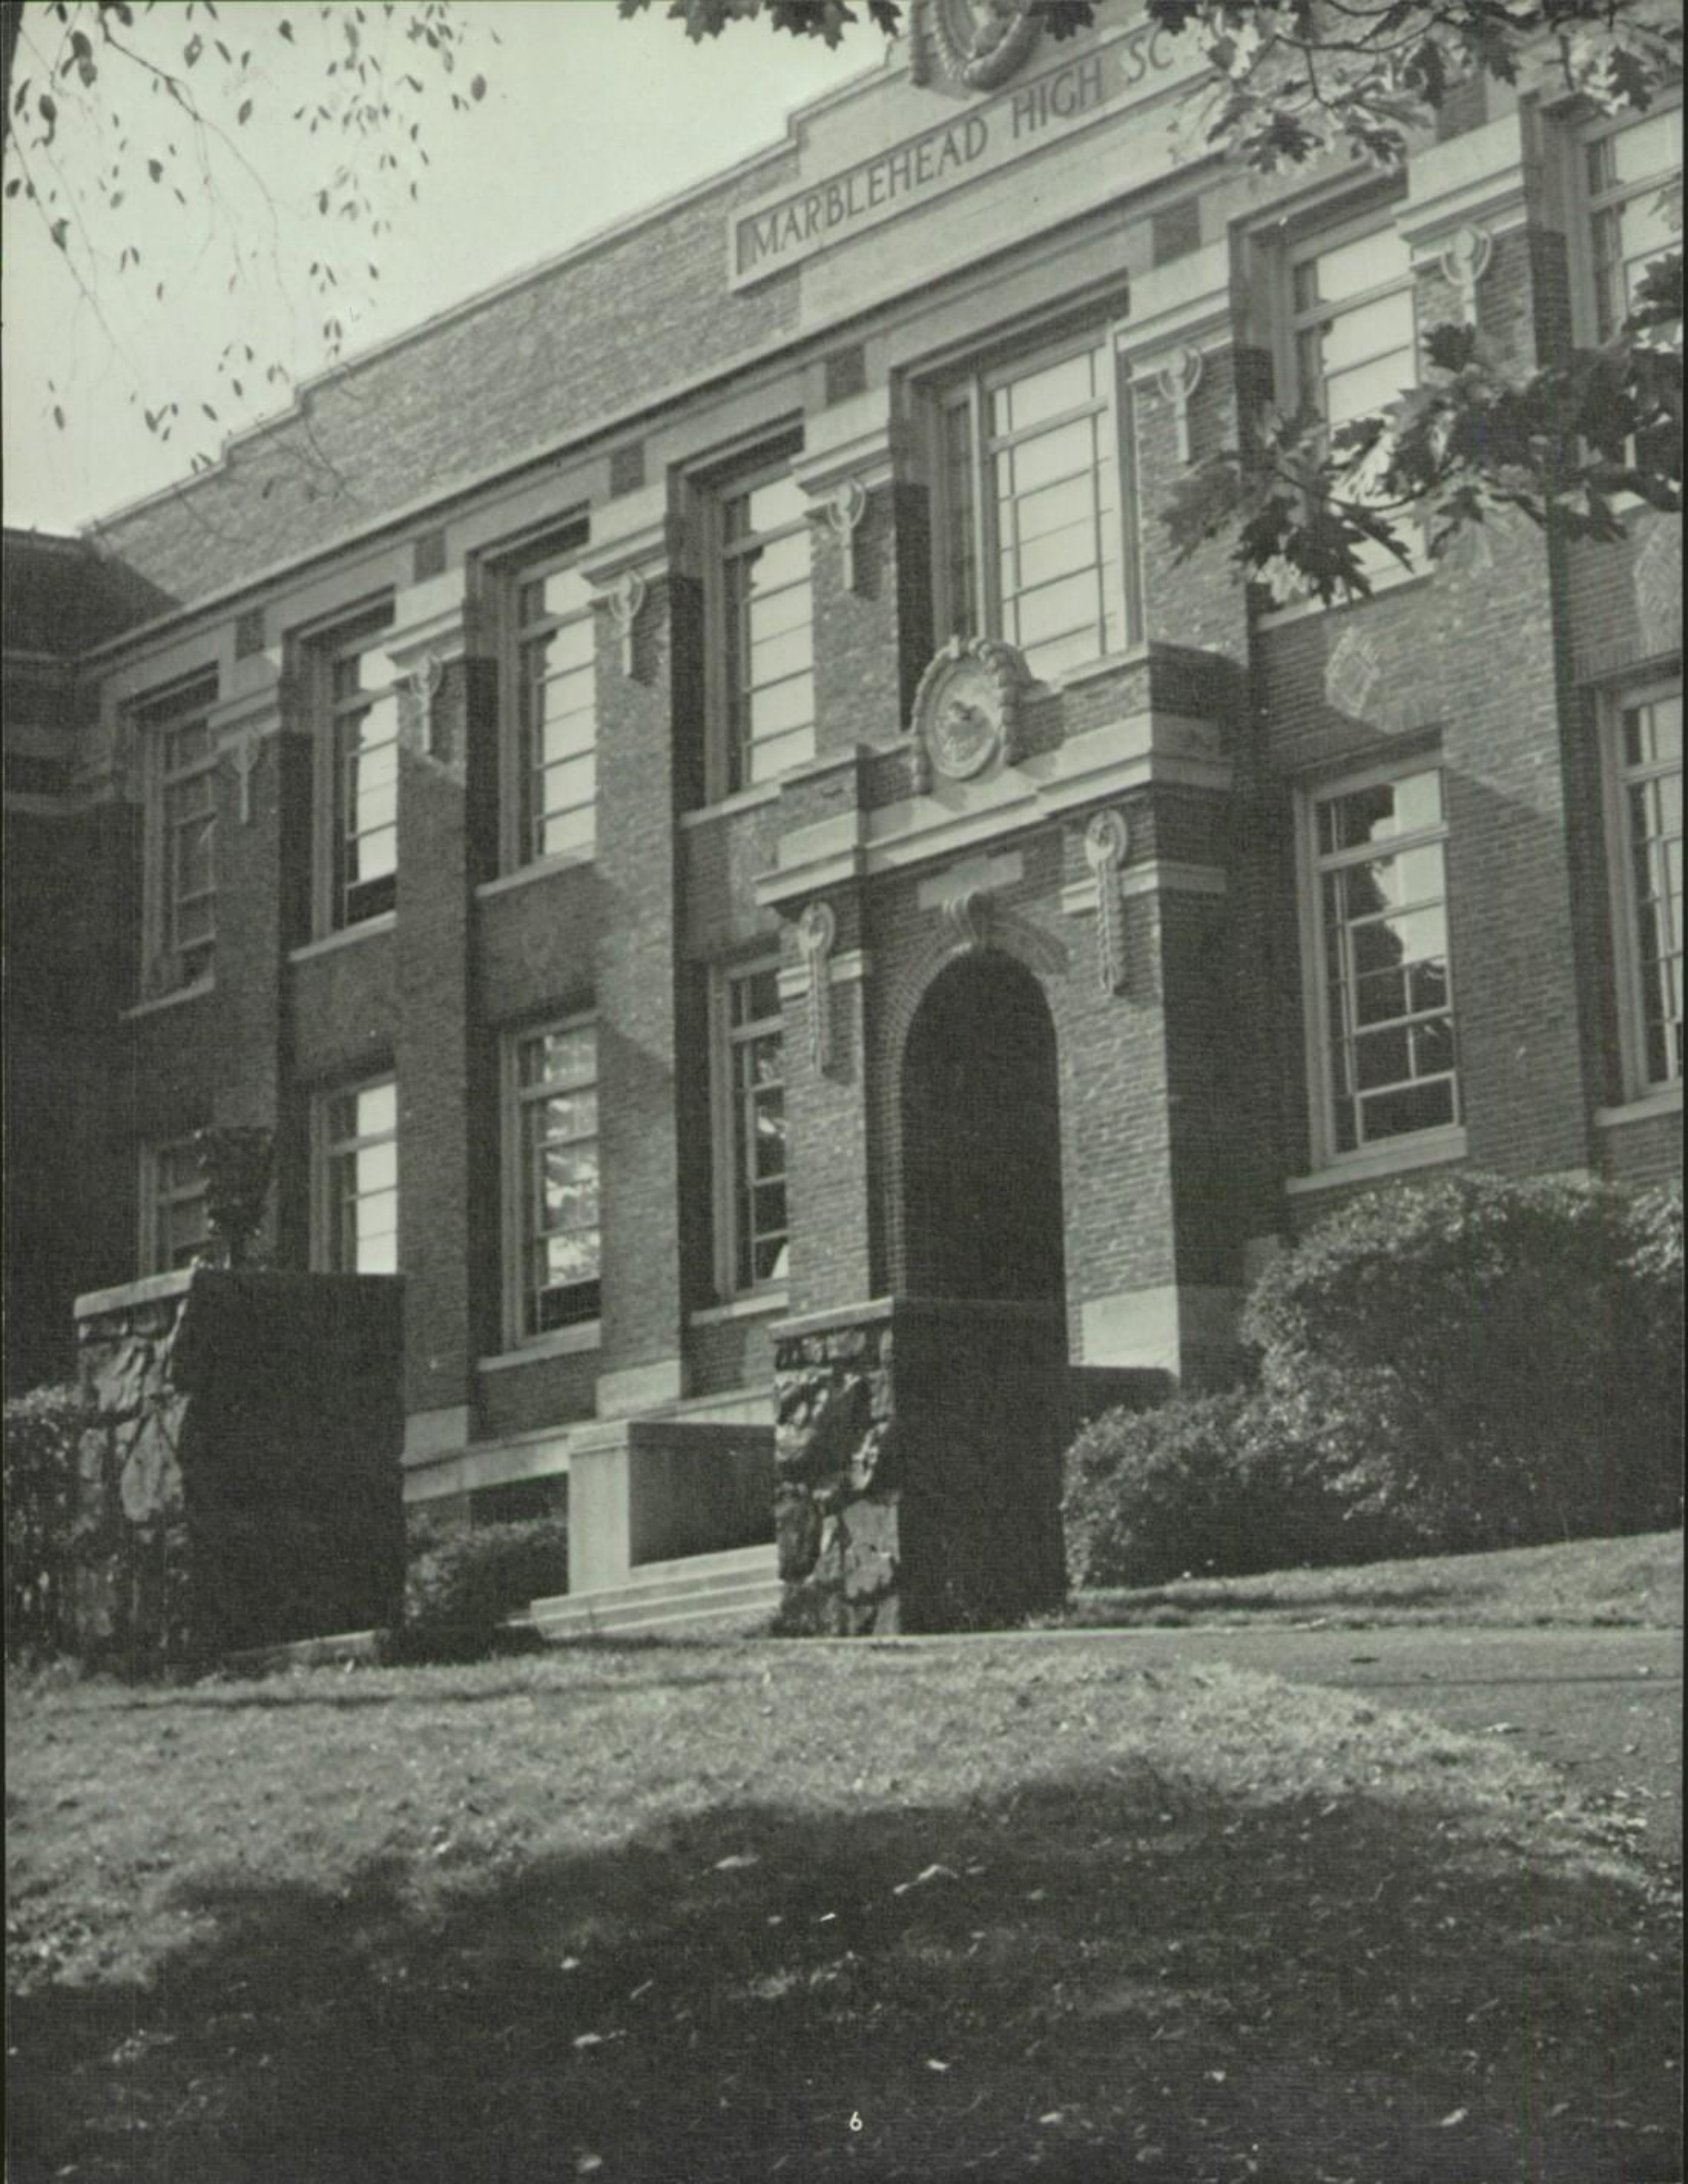
Our first destination has been reached, but ahead we see another goal, hazy and indistinct. The voyage will be long and hard, but our preparation for the next journey is completed, our inspiration at hand. This inspiration comes from a man whom we have grown to honor and admire, for in sharing new ideas with us and helping our minds to grow, he has captured our esteem.

Long after we leave Marblehead High, we shall remember the seminar periods and classes which went by all too quickly while we discussed everything except what we were supposed to discuss. We shall never forget the times in homeroom when we exploded in shared laughter or were quiet under promise of detention. We shall remember the trust he had in us and the way in which he listened, for to him, each of us was a single person, an entity unto himself.

Remembered always will be his smile, a beacon inviting us to come in and stay awhile. Never to be forgotten will be his blackboard philosophy, true more often than not, as will be the taped lectures, the specific notes, the sly gibes at society. We will remember his everyday words of welcome, of laughter, of wisdom—and, above all, Mr. Juncker himself.



Henry Juncker

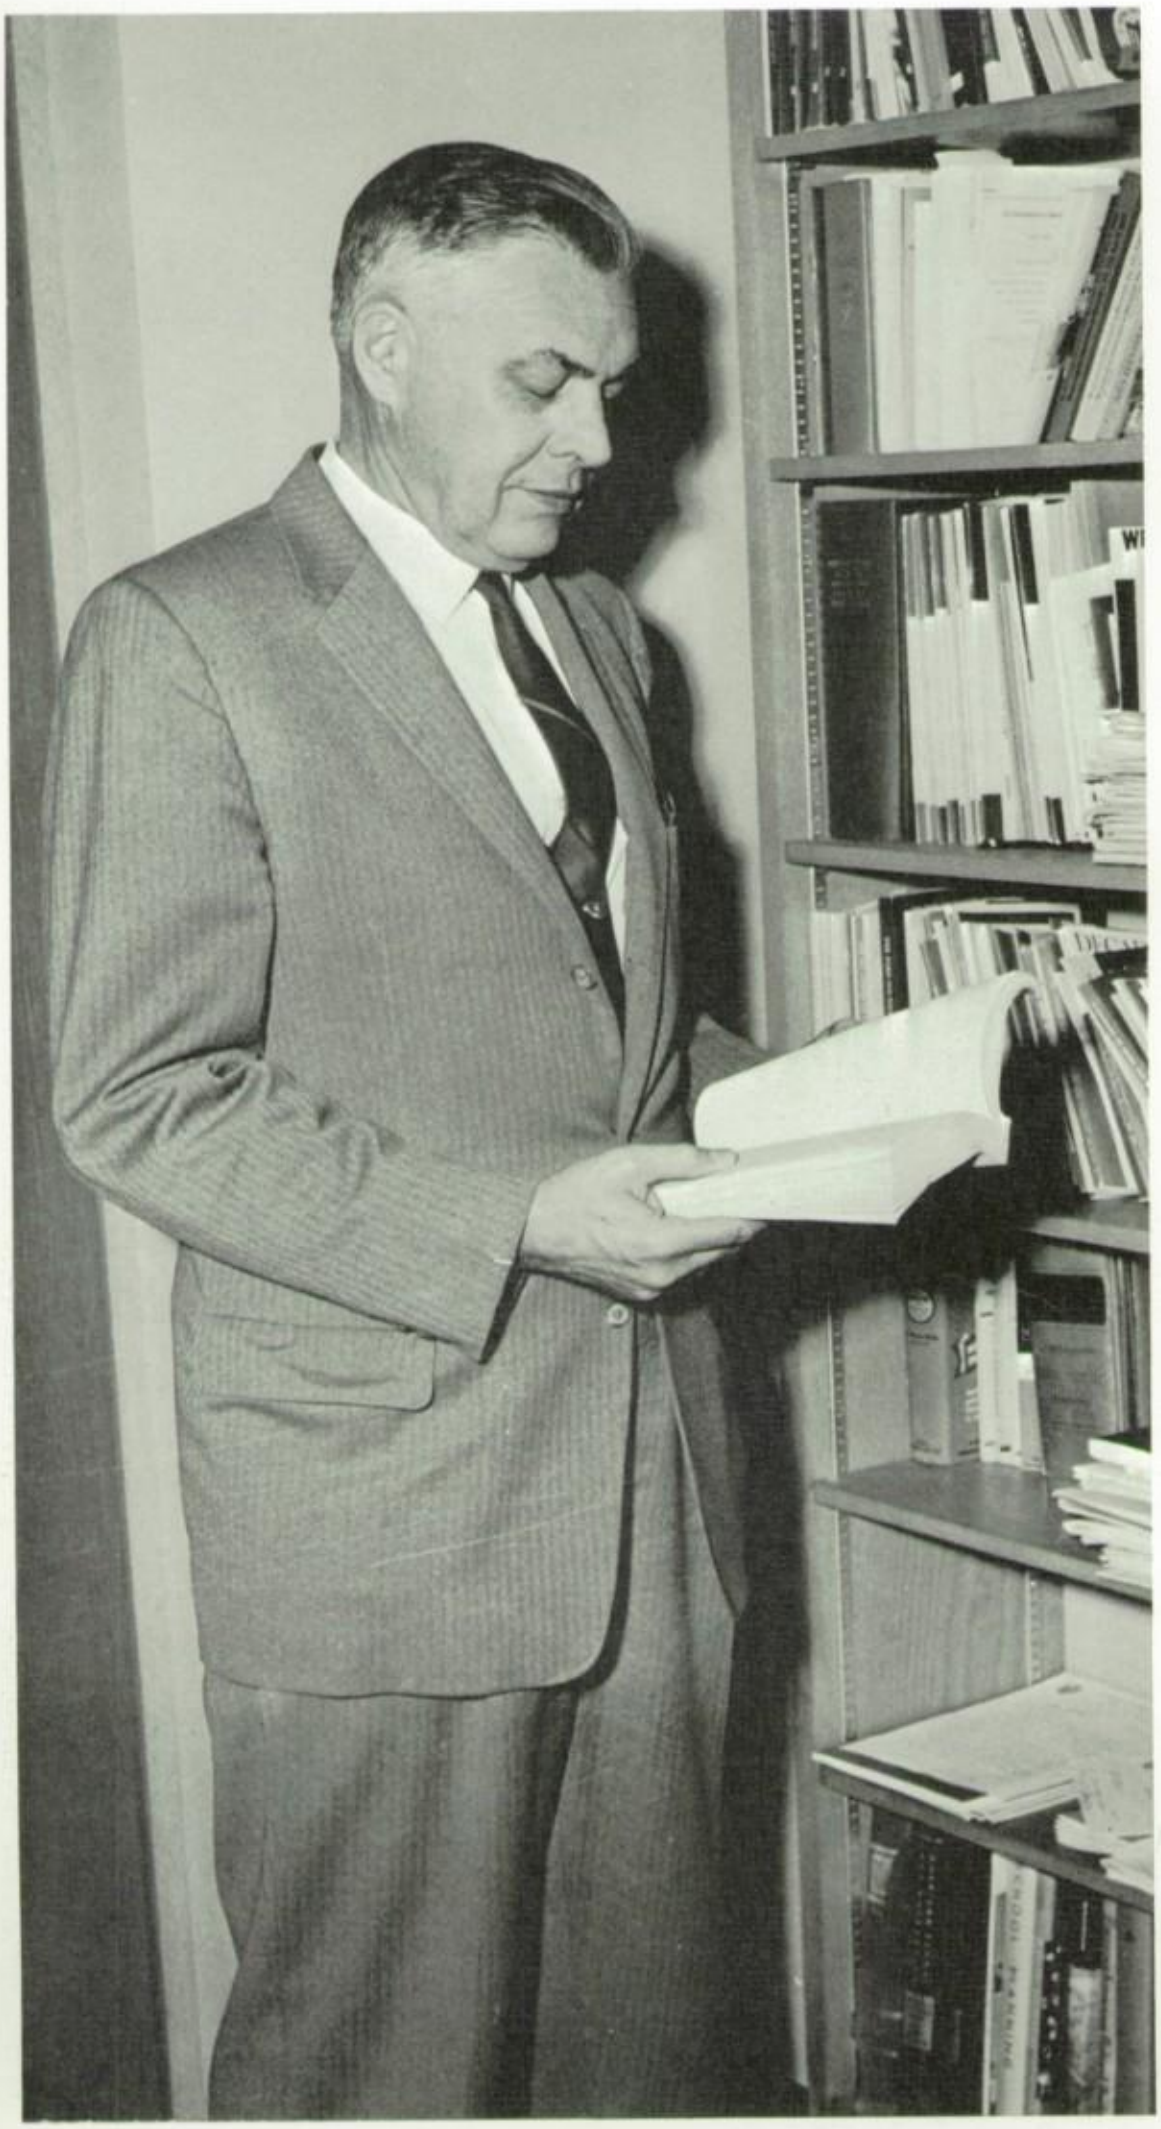


MARBLEHEAD HIGH SC

Administration

"The ability to think straight, some knowledge of the past, some vision of the future, some skill to do useful service, some urge to fit that service into the well-being of the community —these are the most vital things education must try to produce."

Virginia Gildersleeve



AURA W. COLEMAN

Mr. Coleman, our Superintendent, has, from his administrative desk, been guiding each student in the Marblehead school system since 1948. Few of us have fully realized or appreciated the thoughtful supervision he has given us throughout our maturing years.

Mr. Coleman's adept handling of Marblehead's schools did not come about without a great deal of experience. Beginning his career in Rumford, Maine, as an English teacher and coach of both football and track, Mr. Coleman then took a position at Heburn Academy where he also taught English and coached track. Twice he was the principal in small high schools, one of which was in Exeter, New Hampshire, where he later became Superintendent.

Although his experience covers diverse types of education, his first job as principal was very significant. He took upon himself the responsibilties of teaching and coaching as well as administrating the high school activities. There Mr. Coleman received the background which has made him the efficient, well-liked, and respected chief administrator of our schools in Marblehead.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE

Marblehead's school system is administered by the School Committee which makes all policy decisions for all Marblehead schools. Within the limits of the budget, they manage to obtain the best possible teachers so that all Marblehead school children may have the best possible education. In fact, the recognized excellence of our school system would not be possible were it not for the hard work and dedication which the School Committee's members give to their job.

EROLD B. BEACH

Throughout our high school years each of us has been guided by the friendly and witty but firm principal whom we all hold in highest respect.

Before deciding upon a teaching career, Mr. Erold Beach took a job for an oil company where he was employed for two or three years. However, dissatisfied with this occupation and wishing to work with young people, he decided to go into teaching. Mr. Beach came to Marblehead High School as a member of the Business Department and soon became the Head of this department. He had only the highest goals in mind when he accepted his awesome position as principal twenty-one years ago.

Since then he has been a devoted man, serving long hours both in school and out, striving to make Marblehead High School not only a place for academic learning, but also a place in which individuals grow and mature.

CHARLES V. LOVELY

Each student is made to feel as an integral part of the school by Mr. Lovely's personal warmth, which reflects in everything he does. Many students have found our assistant principal coming to their aid more than once. Mr. Lovely strives continuously for the benefit of the students, whom he holds in highest esteem.

Mr. Lovely's nineteen dedicated years at Marblehead High have been characterized by fair judgments and impartial decisions. Even while a teacher of general science and physics, Mr. Lovely added much to the atmosphere at school. By working in such organizations as the Northeastern Conference, our football league, the YMCA, and the Marblehead and Massachusetts Teachers' Associations, Mr. Lovely has helped Marblehead and Marblehead High School to have the best possible coaches, instructors, and teachers.

More importantly, we have come to recognize that Mr. Lovely is interested in each one of us, not only by lending his presence and making suggestions, but also by encouraging each of us in his particular interest. We are grateful to Mr. Lovely for his interest, devotion, and insight, which have helped us to become better students and individuals.

PAUL SIMPSON
"Maybe it would be better to apply somewhere else."

GUIDANCE DEPARTMENT

Whether it's choosing courses or colleges, the Guidance Department under the capable leadership of Mr. Clunie assists us in deciding our proposed future plans intelligently. We are indebted to Mr. Clunie, Miss Allen, and Mr. Simpson for their concern.

BEVERLY ALLEN
"I wouldn't worry about it."

FREDERICK CLUNIE
"I wonder why he wants to go there."

LIBRARIAN

OLIVE M. ELLIOTT

Whether it's cataloguing books or making sure that we all know how to write bibliographies, Miss Elliott works constantly to improve our library. Through her, we have come to appreciate more the services a library can give.

It is the teacher's art to let us live with him and what we take

he rarely knows:

A moment of astonishment
when beauty sets
his brain aflame:

A striking blow of truth which shatters what is known and is not so:

A startled cry of Look and then we see.

A teacher lives in what he is
In what we are to be.

Fran,
How can I ever
Forget all those wonderful Chem. classes - especially the labs - which you did all alone. Fran, it's been great having you this year. I wish you all the happiness life can offer.
I know you'll be a success.
Best of everything
Love 'n Jeans,
Les.

In Memoriam

To everything there is a season, and a time to every purpose under the heaven:

A time for war, and a time for peace;

A time to plant, and a time to pluck up that which is planted;

A time to kill, and a time to heal

A time to break down, and a time to build up;

A time to weep, and a time to laugh;

A time to mourn, and a time to dance;

A time to cast away stones, and a time to gather stones together;

A time to embrace, and a time to refrain from embracing;

A time to seek, and a time to lose;

A time to keep, and a time to cast away;

A time to rend, and a time to sew;

A time to keep silence, and a time to speak;

A time to love, and a time to hate;

A time to be born and a time to die.

Ecclesiastes 3:1-9

Christopher Cronan

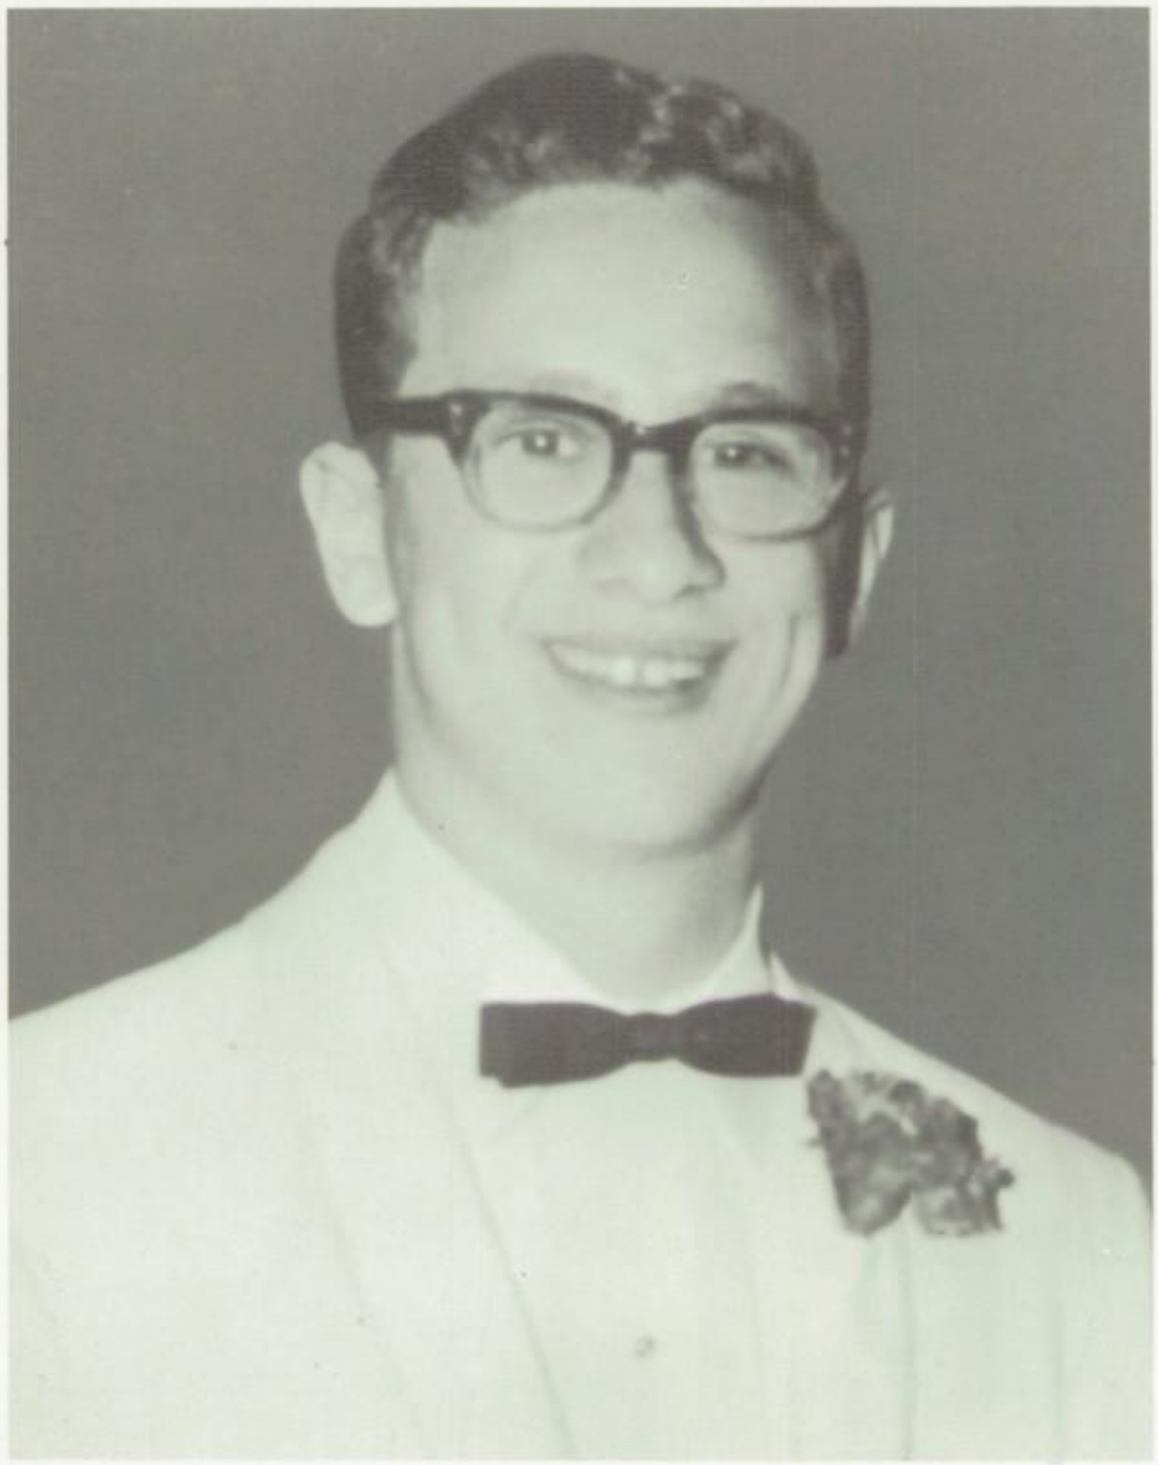
He was a natural born leader. When he needed people to help him, he had them. If there were none, he would go it alone. Never a person for procrastination, he would try in earnest for his successes with an honest and persevering attitude. He was an-extrovert in his ideas and his congeniality. Hardly anyone could not find friendship within his presence. People who knew him always looked forward to being with him, for in effect, he emanated a desire for living from within. To watch him at work or play would be exhaustive by itself because he embodied a spirit that made the utmost of itself and its capabilities. Christopher left to this world a short sadness for his loss, but an even greater realization of the gift of living that he so vividly and willingly offered.

Gail Salinsky

A beautiful girl ever loved and respected, Gail set an example through her uncompromisingly strong character. Sparkling eyes full of mischievous merriment bespoke her vivacious personality. Never unkind, she possessed the rare talent of making one feel comfortable with her.

Gail divested her love in diverse areas, not the least important of which was sports. Any sport —baseball, football, hockey—held her spellbound because there was always someone she liked to watch—Mark, Johnny, her brother Richie. Another of her many loves was the changing of classes. She looked forward to this eagerly, anticipating the warm hellos of her many friends. Nevertheless, on the occasions when these friends felt rather low and down-in-the-dumps, Gail always sensed it. "You've only got two more years to go, don't be so glum!" she'd shout, and, when this was accompanied by her effervescent smile and quick wink, who could remain depressed?

According to Gail everyone should have an education and go to college. Although some people believed that no one can succeed without the endowment of great ability or talent, Gail's opinion was, "Trying means a lot, and I am trying!" Try she did, and succeed she did.



William Arbetter

Bill Arbetter had all the qualities which made all who knew him give him the highest respect.

Bill's interests were wide and varied. He had an amazing mechanical ability, being able to fix anything. He had a great ear for music, his superiority on the baritone sax being indisputable. He had a wide scientific knowledge and could often be found experimenting in his own chemistry lab.

Most important, Bill had a wide knowledge of life and the things around him. He seemed to be carefree, without a worry in the world. He was a dependable friend, keeping his own problems to himself, but always a ready counsel for anyone who needed to talk. Bill had a rare maturity and will never be forgotten.

Model U.N.

"Point of order, point of order, Mr. Chairman," was the rallying cry of Marblehead's first Model United Nations. Staged by Mr. Ferguson, the Model U.N. gave members of the school an opportunity to see how the real U.N. works—and an opportunity was surely given.

Student Council

Although the student body and the administration often seem to steer different courses, our Student Council attempts to unite the efforts of the school to bring about pleasantly peaceful coexistence.

With Richard Bowen as president, the coveted Senior privileges have materialized. To help in fund and fun raising, Mr. Beach gave Student Council permission for the annual Sadie Hawkins Dance. The sale of milk, cookies and donuts not only boosted the treasury, but also boosted morale through a direct channel—the stomach.

The 1966 Student Council, under the capable leadership of Mrs. Bloch and Mrs. Polley, has helped to bring harmony and good-will to our school.

Internationalism at Marblehead High School

Each year a high school exchange program is carried on by the United States and other countries in cooperation with the American Field Service. Under this program, students are chosen by competitive examination to represent their individual countries. Those chosen are placed in homes which most nearly duplicate their own. In this way, the customs and traditions of the host country are learned in a familiar atmosphere.

At Marblehead High School, the AFS program is the main project of the Student Council, who sponsors the Magazine Drive in order to finance the program. Last year Robert Knowles was chosen as Marblehead's AFS student and this year, Michaela Glück, from Freiburg, Germany, came to live with us here in Marblehead. It is an honor to have an AFS student at our school, and the school's continued support of the AFS program has led to a new understanding of different ways of living.

National Honor Society

Each spring the faculty selects members for the National Honor Society on the basis of scholarship, leadership, character, and service.

This year the members have attempted to beneficially employ their scholastic qualifications through a student-to-student extra help program. The members have assisted other students in specific subjects by sharing their experience and understanding. Working in conjunction with the teachers' extra help programs, the project has been well accepted and helps fulfill an existing need in the school system.

Seminar in Contemporary Literature

"One can't be bashful when reading modern literature." This is the attitude one must take in the Seminar in Contemporary Literature under the direction of Mrs. Miles. Every Wednesday H block a group of seniors met faithfully to discuss short stories of contemporary authors. Under the guidance of Mrs. Miles, the group received a valuable introduction in the symbolism of Kafka, Joyce, and Capote. Who will ever forget "The Hunter Gracchus" and the three-week religious discussion which followed? The sessions provided a valuable experience in interpretation which will never be forgotten.

Seminar in Critical Thinking

Twice-a-week, twelve seniors gather under the guidance of Mr. Walsh to "discuss" great philosophical ideas of such men as Plato, Kant, and Dewey. More often than not, the assigned philosopher is not discussed, but topics relating to their ideas are, enriching the knowledge of each participant and making the two periods per week much too few.

Thespian Society

Do they work? Keep your distance if you are asking a member of the Thespian Society. Aspirant actors and actresses win a point for every ten hours of service during rehearsals, but whoa—you don't have to act. There are also committees. For instance, one could aid the stage crew, the prompting committee, or the costume committee. Or perhaps some would rather sell tickets to earn their points. What is the compensation? Members receive the Dramatic Magazine free of charge. Willing to work? Go, ahead, Thespian!

Mathmagicians Calculate to Win

"$x^2 + \sqrt{y} + 2x = x$"

"If I were a pencil, where would I hide?"

Confusion reigns the second Thursday of each month as, once again, the North Shore Conference of the Massachusetts Mathematics League, reputed to be the toughest conference in the League, meets to find out how much math each contestant doesn't know. Each sophomore, junior, and senior at the meet is entered in three contests, and can score a maximum of eighteen points. Between categories, which may range from Algebra I to Trig Inversions, the contestants argue over possible solutions and worry about the upcoming category.

This year, under the leadership of Robin Symonds and Robert Zirin, the team has become the fourth-ranked team in the Conference and sixth in the state. Congratulations to a great team and great captains for their perseverance and spirit in helping to make Marblehead one of the best math teams in the League.

Rotary Guests

Each Thursday, two senior boys were allowed to escape cafeteria, and more important, to meet and enjoy a luncheon with businessmen of the town as guests of Rotary. All agreed the speakers, spirit, acquaintances, and the last meeting (run by the Junior Rotarians) provided a valuable, enjoyable experience.

Library Service Committee

Cries of "A, please" or "E, please" were heard in the library this year until the end of February vacation, when a new system of library passes was inaugurated, freeing the members of the committee and Miss Elliott for other duties. Because of their hard work, Miss Elliott had fewer chores, and we were served by a better library.

Future Teachers of America

There comes a time in our high school career when we wonder what the future holds for us after graduation. The members of the Future Teachers of America are directed toward a teaching profession. Under the aid of Mrs. Stuart, advisor to the club, the girls have had an exciting and memorable year. The members have explored the different phases of education such as the teaching of the blind and deaf at the Perkins Institute. Speakers from various teachers' colleges stressed the importance and need for qualified men and women in a field both rewarding and important.

hey're looking.

Pep Band

This year those fans who journeyed to Lynn Arena to follow our hockey team were entertained notably by the action of the game but also by our own hockey pep band. This group of school musicians, under the direction of Harry Katz, serenaded the crowd during intermissions and, through music, cheered our hockey squad on to victory. Our band, the only one of its kind, definitely raised the morale of everyone, and demonstrated the type of school spirit Marblehead High is noted for.

Rehearsals, rehearsals . . .

Glee Club

"Altos, please be quiet!" "Stay in the room until the bell rings." "Boys, open your mouths and sing!" These cries could regularly be heard from Room 20, where the Glee Club, under the leadership of Mr. Harris, rehearsed diligently for the Winter and Spring concerts, various school assemblies and Baccalaureate in June. Although confusion reigned during rehearsals, harmony prevailed, and the Glee Club had another melodious year.

Dinner will be served in the main dining room!

Hup, two, three, four! "Marblehead forever, God bless that dear old town." This year our Christmas Concert was followed by the Greater Lynn Band Festival in Lynn, the Exchange Concert in South Portland, Maine, and the Memorial Day Parade.

Latin Club

What! A Saturnalia? Yes, the members of this year's Latin Club were guests at the first annual Feast of the Saturnalia directed by Mr. Leavitt and held at the Junior High School. Besides the feast, members celebrated Cupid's Day, saw a skit written and produced by Latin Club members, and participated in a Roman field day, complete with chariot races. All hail the Latin Club for this year's achievements!

French Club

"Nous ne parlons qu'un peu de français, mais nous essayons." Miss Cardella, along with her new and tasty French ideas, guided the club's functions. At their first rendezvous the members selected their officers, and then the fun began. There were punch and delicious cookies to whet newly acquired French appetites. Members applauded the plan to enjoy French cuisine in Boston, and they executed their plan "avec beaucoup de plaisir." If they learned nothing else, at least they learned "qu'ils se sont bien amusés!"

German Club

Now in its fifth year of existence at MHS, the "Deutsche Verein" enjoyed its best year yet. Mica Glück, our German Exchange Student, and Stephen Fischell, who has lived in Germany for three years, deserve much credit for this. They, in truth, brought Germany to the monthly meetings which were held at different members' houses. German speakers, color slides, Christmas Carols around the "Tannenbaum" and dinner at a German restaurant were traditionally enjoyed. But who can forget the songfests of American popular songs extemporaneously translated into German? Heil to Herr Genis, and thanks to Florence Kushnieruk, our President, and Peter Michaud, our Vice President, for this, our best year yet!

Spanish Club

With an empty treasury, a President with a not so Spanish accent, and a hearty cry of "no se," the Spanish Club miraculously managed to install some Castillian culture in many willing estudiantes. With Caroline's cry of "Mentoya si, Greco, no," each meeting brought forth new knowledge in a smooth flow of broken Spanish that produced good conversation and tears in Miss Dwinell's eyes.

Art Club

This year, the Art Club, headed by Jain Toabe, is attempting to interest the rest of the school in art and activities involved with it. Prints of famous paintings have been hung in the library, and various books have been available in the library. The Art Club also intends to purchase a series of booklets on thirty different artists. Other activities include a yearly trip to the Boston University Scholastic Art Awards Exhibit, outdoor sketching trips, and visits to museums in the Boston area, all with the indispensable aid of Mr. Holmbolm.

Sailing Club

Shifting breezes and cold water greeted the club at Tufts University for the opening encounter of the 1965-1966 racing season. This unfortunate meet was explained with an excellent excuse in keeping with the team's tradition. Only a few such misfortunes were realized during the season and the team feels that the frozen fingers and toes were worth it.

Being the only high school to have a sailing team, we are compelled to compete against colleges. But whether we sink or swim, Mr. Paige never lets us forget our blunders.

M Club

Composed of girls who participated in at least one varsity sport, the M Club again faithfully served the boys' basketball team this year by selling appetizing candy at the home games. Still another activity was the delicious supper-cookout held annually at Miss Dixey's house which was followed by the initiation for the new members. Under the guidance of Miss Dixey and the leadership of Elaine Sawin (president) and Peggy Kirkpatrick (secretary-treasurer), the club had a rewarding year.

Yearbook

Dedicated to making a yearbook to be remembered, this year's editors and staff worked hard to produce the most distinctive yearbook ever. Troubles with pictures that came in too late, write-ups that never seemed just "right", and those "caption" sessions at Alan's which produced more laughs than captions will go down as another page in the history of Marblehead's Massive Move for Magnificence.

Second Row: J. Messenger, C. Shaffer, J. Cunningham, P. Stechinfinger, P. Brown.

With December snow and holidays, the basketball team came jumping onto the court. Coach Robert Martin taught the boys strength and good sportsmanship while Captain Peter Oppenheim and Seniors Richie Bowen, Jon Keys, and Mike Interess ran, passed, and shot with the elusive basketball.

Cross Country

Cross Country gives the distance runners a chance to gain endurance and stamina for the coming track season. Under Coach Arthur Leavitt, the thinly-clad young "harriers" have come from nowhere to become a threat for championship during the past few years.

Color Guard

Never late for a game! They couldn't be! Long before the charging football squad came onto the field, the Color Guard, leading the marching band, proclaimed our imminent victories. Teetering beneath unwieldy flags, the costumed girls tromped through mud, rain, blasting wind, and icy cold to forewarn our opponents.

Twirlers

Smile, smile, smile despite the muddy ground, the frozen hands, and the occasional fallen baton. As important as keeping step was the effervescent smile. To eliminate the accidental loss of a baton the twirlers practiced five times a week during H block and two afternoons during football practice sessions.

Basing the original routines on the lively music of Mr. Harris' band the twirlers, headed by Leslie Kiely, donned witches hats, magicians top hats, and even bunny costumes. Keeping our twirlers on their toes was no trouble; there were always the peppy, crisp band and the excitement of the game.

Go Marblehead!

Football Cheerleaders

Was head Football cheerleader Cinny Putnam ever cold? She didn't show it, nor did any of the other bouncy cheerleaders. Every Saturday they were the first to arrive and the last to leave. After a quick indoor rehearsal to iron out small difficulties, the girls rushed to the field where their vigor sparked the fans.

First Row: P. Jones, C. Putnam, B. Eyges.
Second Row: L. Bradford, M. Toll, C. Shattuck, S. Hitchcock, S. Fallman.

Basketball Cheerleaders

New uniforms, hurrah! The Basketball cheerleaders whipped the fans' joyous cries into organized yelling both during the actual playing time and between periods. When the team took a break, the cheerleaders, headed by Pam Jones, rushed onto the court. "Let's give a cheer for . . ." Pam began. Soon everyone took up the cry which zealously resounded throughout the school.

G. Ormiston, J. Adelman, P. Bravos, B. Miles, G. Russell, J. Bravos, M. Adams, B. Symonds.

Hockey Cheerleaders

Well, can you skate? This is one of the prerequisites to becoming a hockey cheerleader. Head Hockey Cheerleader Glenn Ormiston taught the girls the meaning of the word "shout" as they all blared out the cries which helped carry our team to its many victories. Although they had few opportunities to practice on ice, their routines were always well planned and well executed—even the somersaults.

Girls' Basketball

Under the unselfish direction of Mrs. Judith Clayman and Miss Linda Watkins of the Junior High, the 1966 girls' basketball season commenced with optimism. Sparked by general enthusiasm and determination, the girls were victorious in their playing, as well as attaining high standards of sportsmanship.

HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF 1966

From 1962 to 1966 we have in our ship Spontaneity endured the sea of unrest. Although we were unaccustomed to the ways of the sea in our freshman year we did not drown. Rather, we were emboldened. Led by President Ray Kearnes, Vice-President Jim Berk, Secretary Leslie Keily, Treasurer Steve Yanofsky, and Historian Kris Hamilton, we vigorously went to work on the Freshman dance, "April Showers." As a result of similar enthusiasm we were given $200 for being the class which sold the largest number of magazines in addition to reaching our quota in the magazine drive sponsored by the Student Council. With our well-earned award and $1.00 dues we became a wealthy Freshman Class.

Our enterprising spirit proved to be a financial aid in our sophomore year, for we won the prize money for the best decorations at the football rally, we earned $100 for reaching the quota in the magazine drive, and we sold boxes upon boxes of stationery to friends, relatives, and sea-creatures. Our morale was kept high by pep talks from our class officers: President Steve Yanofsky, Vice-President Jeff Halpern, and Treasurer Bob Knowles. Through the democratic process of polls, delegates, and ballots our class colors, maroon and white, and our class motto, "We have crossed the bay, the ocean lies before us" were chosen. "Follow the Yellow Brick Road," the Sophomore Dance, ensued.

Early in September of our junior year amidst fervent discussion the nominating committee selected able candidates resulting in the election of Richie Bowen as President, Bob Knowles as Vice-President, Brenda Yanofsky as Secretary, and Jeff Halpern as Treasurer. The first attempt to make our class unique materialized when we voted to sponsor the Scholarship Play, "The Mouse That Roared," instead of following the traditional Junior Class project of selling candy. To lessen the financial load during the senior year we also voted an increase of dues to $4.00. In December we received the long-awaited class rings which depict in the oarsman the spirit of our class. June brought "Shangri-La," the exotic Junior Prom.

Our senior year arrived and with it the will and responsibility for senior privileges. From the work of the officers; President Jeff Halpern, Vice-President Rick Balboni, Secretary Beth Miles and Treasurer Bill Lane and from certain points in our favor (such as being the highest Senior Class in magazine sales) emerged the permission to leave school during a last period study and to decorate our Senior home, the annex. Courageous to the end, we voted to gamble on a musical for the Senior Play; "Camelot" was acclaimed a theatrical success. The unique spontanaeity so characteristic of our class produced a unanimous vote in favor of maroon graduation gowns for the boys and white for the girls. Thus, the Senior Week festivities including the Reception, Banquet, and Baccalaureate were climaxed by a two-tone Graduation, the first of its kind.

Perhaps the most important accomplishment of our four years at Marblehead High is an abstract one, unable to be recorded or measured. Whatever this individual conquest may be it has prepared us for the embarkation upon the greater sea of unrest—life; for, as our motto states, we have merely crossed the bay. Life needs our life, our spontanaeity. Rock 'em, mates!

On the other hand . . .

no puedo decir . . .

But I'm King!

Fran,
Never forget all the hours we spent in the library and the topics we discussed. Please come up again and see Tom and I. Maybe you'll be bringing Jim?!!

I'll always remember you, and all the fun we had.
Good luck in the future.
Love,
Sheila
